A humorous and heartwarming account of one woman's journey to find her place in the world

Have you ever dreamed of living abroad? Of packing your bags and moving to a new country, where you don't know the language or the customs? If so, then you'll love Heads Above Water, a hilarious and heartwarming memoir about one woman's journey to find her place in the world.

When American journalist Sarah Turnbull moved to France with her husband, she thought she was ready for anything. But she quickly realized that living in a foreign country is not as easy as it looks. From the language barrier to the cultural differences, Sarah had to learn how to navigate a whole new world.

In Heads Above Water, Sarah shares her experiences with wit and candor, offering a unique perspective on what it's like to be an expat. She writes about the challenges of learning a new language, the joys of discovering a new culture, and the importance of finding your own community in a foreign land.

Heads Above Water is a must-read for anyone who has ever dreamed of living abroad. It's a funny, heartwarming, and inspiring story that will make you laugh, cry, and think about the meaning of home.
